

Roleystone Community College is not a local area intake school however has been required to manage its enrolments due to an increase in numbers in previous years. As such an imaginary line is drawn equidistant between the college and its nearest schools to identify the "boundary" by which it will prioritise local enrolments.

